

Scouters' Marketplace

November 5, 2011

Leathem Centre, Woodland Trails Scout Camp

Love to be a part of training. Love to share your best ideas, skills or activities. Then join us for the Scouters' Marketplace. We know there are lots of folks who love to come out to training and we wish there was room for everyone. But now you can come out to play if you want to and you get to share some of your knowledge with those new to Scouting. Just choose a particular idea that you can share. Maybe a game, a craft, a skill or almost anything you put into Scouting and can teach to someone else. Some ideas of what we are looking for: – just to get you started– knots, games, dutch oven cooking, pioneering, woodcraft, solar oven making, badge work, how to plan outings or hikes, paddle making, 1812 re-enacting, storytelling, meeting ideas and themes, maybe even a list of field trip ideas you've used in the past or even a song or two. And it doesn't have to fit every section as long as it's something that some of our participants can use.

Experienced scouters who have something they'd love to share with the participants on Part 1 are invited to sign up for the SLS Scouters' Marketplace. You would need to arrive around 7pm on November 5, 2011 to set up your idea. Once you are set up you can join us for campfire if you wish. After campfire we all come back to browse in the marketplace. And as you know it isn't only new Scouters who will be looking for ideas – we can all learn from each other.

The only catch is, we need you to let us know you want to join us, and what you plan to share. Register by emailing cubbing@sympatico.ca and attach electronic instructions for your marketplace item (ie if it's a knot you are teaching send the instructions for that knot). That way we can give all the participants a CD with all the good stuff they saw at the marketplace. Not only will they have your ideas but they will have more contacts they can use as resources.

Please note there is limited space so register early to ensure you get to come and play at the first annual (we hope) SLS Scouters' Marketplace.
